Buying and Selling Of Stocks, Topic of Talk at Kiwanis Club

"Investment, Speculation and Gambling" was the subject discussed before members of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon by Leon B. Allen of the firm, Anderson, Allen and Company of New York City.

The speaker was introduced by City Judge Bernard Gullotta, in charge of the day's program.

Mr. Allen's talk proved to be a treatise on the buying and selling of stocks. He explained the difference between a stock and a bond, and the difference between a stock and a bond.

Definitions of gambler, speculator and investor were given as "one who takes a risk when he knows the odds are against him, one who takes a great risk in the hopes of a large return, and one who buys with the hope of protecting his money and willing to take a small profit, respectively."

The speaker believed that many persons who bought bonds were gamblers because they did not use the standard of the investor, and failed to heed the change in commodity prices so that the actual value of their bonds in terms of what the cash value of the bond would buy was not considered.

On the other hand he considered that certain purchasers of stocks were investors for the same reason, consideration of the money market in addition to other elements in stock transactions.

The speculator, stated the speaker, was a good thing, because he always acted ahead of the market in the hope of large returns, thus taking much of the risk that otherwise would have to be absorbed by the investor.

"There is a mistaken idea that there are certain means of investing money with no risk. Such is not the case," continued the speaker, "for instance even a bank deposit with a small return in the form of interest is not always entirely safe. Otherwise those who invested many years ago would now control all of the wealth in the world. It is a fact that with the fluctuations in prices and economic conditions it is impossible to have an entirely safe investment."

Mr. Allen made a personal prediction that the country is on the verge of a great bull market, "perhaps the greatest bull market in history. But I may be wrong."

For each bull market there comes a bear market, he explained, and that is the time to get out of the market. The point he stressed was when to buy and when to get out.

Considering what stocks to buy Mr. Allen said that orthodox way was to study the structure of the company considered over a period of time, and based on that to assume that such a condition would continue for a future period. Any change, he explained, would through various channels become known quickly and even if the stock had begun to drop there would be plenty of time to get out with a profit. This plan, he continued would not always work, but the idea was to purchase a number of stocks or bonds and averaging them would result in a minimum of risk in return.

In buying a group of stocks Mr. Allen believed that the proper procedure was to select a list which had a better than average rating. The time to buy, he explained, was based on a formula computed by long study which would permit the purchase as the market was rising and the getting out just after the market had begun to drop. Changes in this computation were displayed which showed that the average number of times which the plan had miscarried was extremely low. "However," he said, "there is no fool proof formula, and every plan will fail at some time or other."

Formula based on what had happened in the past were of little value, he stated, because "because it is a fact that certain changes take place in the market from time to time and the same conditions rarely return."

He said that stocks should be bought on the basis of a value and that when the stock failed to keep above the value line, it should immediately be sold, even in a bull market.

The idea is not to hold a stock to the very highest peak, he said, but to keep it only as long as the ratio line was favorable, and to sell when the change occurred. He admitted that in this case the stock might be still rising, but predicted that it would begin to lose ground somewhere near the time of unfavorable ratio.

"No one should hold stocks in a bear market," said Mr. Allen. "Contrary to popular belief it does not matter if the stock is held until after the reaction sets in following the peak of a bull market, but the stock should be sold as soon as the ratio is unfavorable and the stock begins to drop. Similarly it is not wrong to buy the stock at the very lowest point in a bear market, but when the ratio becomes favorable the stock should be purchased even though the stock has been climbing some time."

In conclusion Mr. Allen explained there was no absolutely safe way to pick, buy and sell stocks, but that experience and study had provided ways "to pick, buy and sell stocks, so that there was a minimum of risk to the investor. And in the long run with a series of soundly selected securities, it should be possible to realize a margin of profit."

No Community Dance Here Monday Evening; Masquerade, Feb. 24

On account of the U. P. A. food and program show in the Municipal Auditorium all next week, the regular Monday night dance conducted by the city and Musicians' Union, will not be held, but the following Monday, February 24, there will be a masquerade, featuring two local orchestras and a grand march.

There will be five costume prizes, and it is expected that there will be lots of competition for them. Alderman Paul Zuco, chairman of the building committee, who is vitally interested in the Monday night dances, is more than enthusiastic over the masquerade and hopes to see one of the largest attendances for a Monday affair to date. Whether Alderman Zuco will mask himself, he didn't say. However, if there appears at the dance a fellow about Paul's size with a "Gay 90's" mustache, it more than likely will be the old maestro himself. Alderman Zuco, who takes a turn at song leading and juggling in his time off from civic affairs, made a hit with the mustache when he directed the singing at the Horticultural banquet in the Governor Clinton Hotel last week.

INCREASED TAXES ON GASOLINE OUTLINED BY FREER

A decrease of about 75 per cent in the per horsepower price of motor vehicles during the past 10 years has been accompanied by a 260 per cent increase in taxes levied on gasoline "feed" for the mechanical horses, it was said today by E. O. Freer, of the Ulster County Petroleum Industries Committee.

He explained that recent studies have disclosed that the average price of a motor vehicle has been reduced from $31.50 per horsepower in 1925 to only $7.80 per horsepower today. In the same period the average per gallon price of gasoline fuel has declined about 50 per cent, but taxes paid by consumers have increased to an average of 5.2 cents per gallon from 2 cents, a rise of 260 per cent in a decade.

"I wonder what would have happened in the old days," said Mr. Freer, "if farmers and horse owners had been notified that government was putting a 40 per cent tax on horse feed. I imagine the tax which caused the Boston Tea Party wasn't anywhere near that rate."

"The current excuse for taxing gasoline so heavily is the cost of building roads. We need roads, it is true, for they benefit everyone. But we do not need to build such expensive roads that we must tax ourselves excessively to build them. There's a happy medium and it is far below a 40 per cent tax."

"A reasonable gasoline tax, which the taxpayers pay willingly and which the state collects fully, would provide adequate revenue for a planned program of roads built to meet present and prospective traffic needs."

Boy Scout Rally Here Saturday

Preparations are going forward rapidly for the Boy Scout Rally for the troops of the Kingston District. This annual rally will take place on Saturday afternoon of this week in the New State Armory on North Manor avenue.

This event will open up a week's celebration marking the 25th anniversary of Scouting in the United States.

All troops of the district including the troops of Kingston, Port Ewen, High Falls, Rosendale, etc., will be present.

The work of preparing the big indoor driving hall for the rally will begin Friday morning and all booths will be ready for the various exhibits by the time school is out on Friday afternoon.

Troop 2 of St. Joseph's Church will have an exhibit on hiking equipment showing articles and equipment needed for various types of hiking both by troop and patrol.

Troop 5 of the Temple Emanuel Church will have an exhibit on handicraft and hobbies.

Troop 6 of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will have two booths exhibiting stamps, telegraph equipment, basketry, model airplanes, bird houses, model towers, etc.

Troop 7 of the St. John's Episcopal Church will have an exhibit on model airplanes, metal work, and tent making equipment.

Troop 12 of the First Dutch Church will have two booths, one of which will deal with various hobbies and the other will be prepared by the Sea Scout division.

Troop 6 of Port Ewen will have a booth entitled, "Boy Scout Trail, or, Dad's View of Scouting."

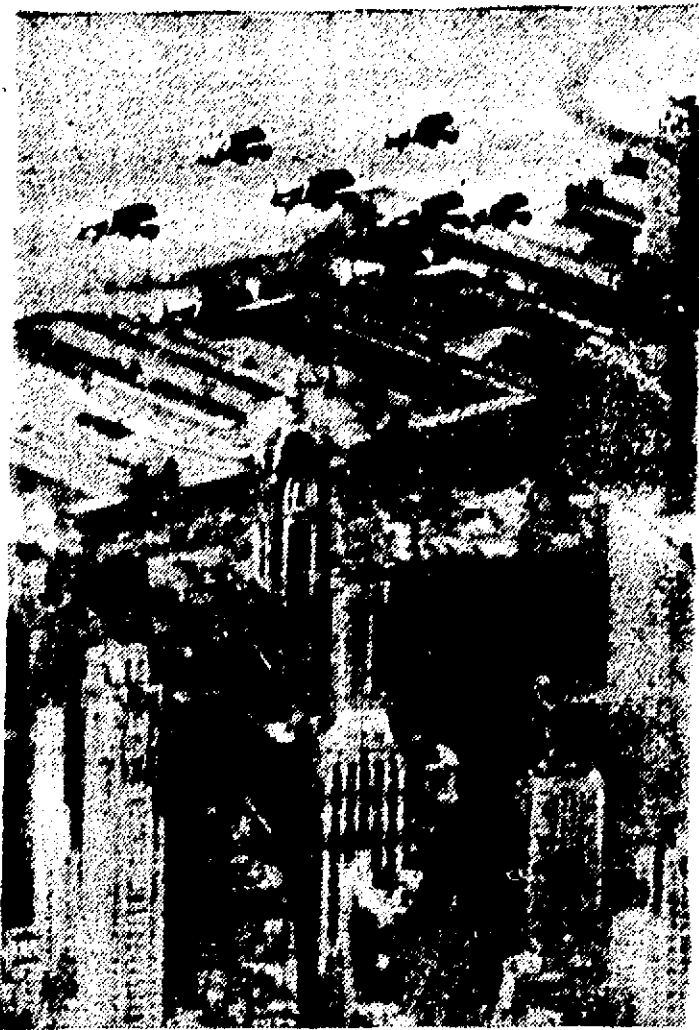

The armory will be open Saturday afternoon from 2 o'clock until 6 o'clock for any one to view the exhibits. There will also be music during the afternoon program. The evening program will begin promptly at 7:45 and will consist of the opening assembly, various contests, demonstrations that the various troops will have, and there will also be the awarding of the various honors won during the afternoon as well as the presentation of awards of rank by the Court of Honor.

Music for the entire evening will be provided by the local ERB orchestra. This annual rally is open to the public and parents and friends of scouting and promises to be as enthusiastically supported as previous events.

At 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon the judges of the booths will select first, second, and third winners. Sam D. Scudder, Jr., is chairman of this group of judges. The judges for the evening are in charge of Stanworth Hancock, who has assisted in this work for several years.

NEW YORK 'SAVED' IN AIR RAID

These planes, representing the "enemy," were theoretically shot down over New York city by defending squadrons of U. S. army airmen a few minutes after they launched an "attack" to blow the city from the map. The maneuver came as part of winter war games engaged in by army aviators along the upper eastern coast. ## St. Joseph's Holy Name Communion

Sunday, February 9, is the regular monthly Holy Communion and meeting Sunday for St. Joseph's Holy Name Society.

The men will receive communion at the 8 o'clock Mass, Sunday morning, and meet in the school hall at 7:15 in the evening for their monthly business meeting and spiritual instruction, by Father John J. Manning.

Following the meeting there will be a social during which a delegation of Holy Name men from St. Francis Xavier Church, New York city, will be the guests. They will put on an entertainment program. Refreshments will be served.

President William B. Martin asks that the men of St. Joseph's Holy Name note the starting time of the meeting, 7:15, which is earlier than usual. The meeting will start at this time in order to permit the New York delegation to get an earlier start for home after the meeting concludes.

At The Theatres

Today
Broadway: "The Three Musketeers". The story Douglas Fairbanks made camera conscious several years ago becomes a slashing, devil-may-care, adventure yarn in this RKO-Radio production that brings the romantic D'Artagnan, Aramis, Porthos and Aramis back to the wars of 17th century France with all the intrigue and corruptness of the French court. The time of the play is during Cardinal Richelieu's bitter struggle to keep the weak Louis XIII under his thumb. A dictatorial master of state, Richelieu directs the policy of France and he crushes his enemies with speed and dispatch. Into this intrigue rides the young D'Artagnan from Gascony and before he is finished, his blade has cut down many a traitor to the queen of France and his name is justly famous as a first class fighting man. He becomes one of the Musketeers, bitter enemies of the soldiers of Richelieu. The cast offers Walter Abel, Paul Lukas, Ian Keith, Heather Angel, Margot Grahame, Ralph Forbes, Nigel de Bruin, Onslow Stevens and Moroni Olsen. The photography was by Peverell Marley and the production was handled by Rowland V. Lee.

Kingston: "Dangerous Waters" and "Kind Lady." Thrill after thrill constitutes the substance of the opening melodrama at the Kingston, a study in the sea and its many terrors lurking to ensnare men and ships. A lively plot adds to the wild sea scenes and Jack Holt, Robert Armstrong, Grace Bradley, Charles Murray and Diana Gibson all work hard in the main characterizations. "Kind Lady" is pretty brutal stuff and it isn't the type of play the kiddies should see or enjoy. It tells of a gang of British crooks in the kidnapping racket. It tells of a woman who takes in a hungry man out of pity only to have him imprison her and bring his gang into her home. Aline MacMahon, Basil Rathbone, Mary Carlisle, Frank Albertson and Dudley Digges are featured.

Orpheum: "Waterfront Lady" and "Fighting Shadows." Double features continue at the Orpheum with Ann Rutherford having a tough time of it in the first offering as a woman of the waterfront. "Fighting Shadows" is one of Tim McCoy's latest struggle dramas of the western plains and Mr. McCoy battles it out with desperados and wins the girl as his just reward.

Tomorrow
Broadway: "Ceiling Zero." The popular co-starring team of James Cagney and Pat O'Brien hitch their wagon to a star in this masterly portrayal of modern commercial aviation and the type of men who fly passengers and mail across the skyway network of the nation. Dramatic, tense, beautifully photographed, the story centers around three war buddies who turn to commercial aviation for both profit and glory. James Cagney plays the irresponsible member of the trio and it isn't until he accidentally sends his friend to his death that he straightens himself out and wings his way on a trip that spells certain disaster to the pilot making it. The air scenes are thrilling and the blind flying episodes are gripping. In their stark realism, the show proves how far aviation has come in the past few years through scientific advancement and it also shows that the surface has not been scratched in the efforts of man to fight the elements. Others in the cast include Stuart Erwin, June Travis, Edward Gargan, Pat West, Henry Wadsworth, James Bush and Jayne Manners. Much of the production's success was due to the direction of Howard Hawks. Exciting entertainment with a tear jerker ending.

Kingston: "Riffriff" Jean Harlow, who many consider a stream lined edition of Mae West, is right at home in her latest hit picture for its locale in the sea and the coast of southern California, and Miss Harlow seems to do her best work with the sea as a background. In this story, she plays the role of a waterfront angel in a fishing village. She marries a bully and a braggart of a man and most of her time is spent in trying to reform him. Spencer Tracy gives his usual flawless performance in the other starring role as a tuna ship skipper. Miss Harlow and Mr. Tracy make an odd but satisfactory team and both prove their acting genius during the run of the film. The show is filled with grim humor, realism and occasionally branches off into a mild study in present day economic problems. The picture was directed by J. Walter Ruben, and Una Merkel, Joseph Calista, Mickey Rooney, J. Farrell Mac Donald, Paul Hurst, Vince Barnett and Judith Wood are featured. Adult entertainment with Miss Harlow in one of her most sentimental characterizations.

Polish Women Monopolize Prizes
 Warsaw (AP)—All important Polish prizes for literacy work in 1935 went to women. The Polish national prize was awarded Mme. Sophia Nalkowska. The Academy of Literature award, and these granted by the cities of Warsaw, Cracow and Vilno, went to Mme. Mary Dombrowska, Mme. Aniela Gruszka, Miss Pola Gajewiczynska and Miss Kazimiera Ilakowicz, respectively.

Turkey Strengthens Air Force
 Istanbul (AP)—The Turkish national assembly has voted $16,500,000 for the development of her military aircraft, at present said to comprise 270 first line machines. Developments in the international situation are given as the reason.

French Baby Bring 30 Cents
 Valenciennes, France (AP)—Police are searching for a mother who, they charge, sold her three-year-old daughter to a gypsy woman for five francs, or about 30 cents. The child, found in a gypsy caravan, has been placed in an orphanage.

Fewer Drunks In Stockholm
 Stockholm (AP)—Drunkenness is declining sharply in Stockholm under the Bratt system of liquor control. Arrests for intoxication for 10 months in 1935 were 4,663, against 5,102 for the same period the year before.

Elaborate preparations have started already for paying off the veterans next summer. You wouldn't think it could be so hard a job for a government to give away money.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS &amp; SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—To Hollywood's only studio "perambulator man" film and is distinctly a roast beef town—and, as far as his business is concerned, a man's town.

The women, with their various diets, yield much less frequently than the men to the tempting displays of food Emmett Hasley, tall, chocolate-brown and obsequious, trundles about the Twentieth Century-Fox restaurant every noon-time.

The "perambulator"—and Emmett—are institutions at this commissary. He was chosen for the job two years ago. He tells, with some pride, how many stars always order from his perambulator rather than from the regular menu, and how others can be marked down, before they enter the restaurant, as perambulator customers on days when the offering is "right" for them.

A Gift From England
 The perambulator—a traveling silver kitchen which Emmett guides from table to table—came to this restaurant when Fox was making "Cavalcade." A British film exchange sent it as a gift to the British players in that picture. Every day its offering is changed.

Victor McLaglen, Warner Baxter, and Arline Judge are among the players Emmett usually "jests" will take the perambulator. Sometimes Barbara Stanwyck is a certainty, unless the piece of resistance is corned beef and cabbage. But in that case, Emmett still can count on Gloria Stuart to order.

Alice Faye's favorite—and Barbara Stanwyck's—is roast stuffed chicken. Shirley Temple likes roast beef, well done, but Emmett doesn't serve hers—it goes to her bungalow. Little Freddie Bartholomew, who ate in the restaurant while making "Professional Soldier," was a "good customer," according to Emmett, and favored roast beef.

Cobb's Favorite
 Emmett, by way of being a good psychologist, judges his prospective customers from afar before he approaches with his temptation. His pay does not depend on the number of daily orders, but he takes pride in "making a good showin'." Nevertheless after a feminine star has shunted him away one day with the reminder that she is dieting, Emmett considerably remembers—and stays away "till she look like she might want to order from me."

Irvin S. Cobb is not a regular customer—except when Emmett offers "boiled briskeet of beef with horse radish sauce, of course," says Emmett.

Emmett comes from Chapel Hill, Tex., and his ambition—one guess is to be in pictures. He had bits in "Stand Up and Cheer" and in "Imitation of Life."

VIOLINIST, 13, TO MAKE DEBUT

Among fans to greet Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., on his arrival in New York from England were his mother, Mrs. Jack Whiting, and her husband (center). Young Doug scouted reports of love affairs and said he would return soon to England to produce pictures. (Associated Press Photo)

Tests Show ALL-BRAN Corrects Constipation Gently and Naturally

Since its introduction, some 60-teen years ago, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has been used with beneficial results by millions of people.

Realizing the important relationship between proper diet and health, the Kellogg Company has aided for many years research in leading university laboratories. These tests show that the continued use of bran is thoroughly satisfactory.

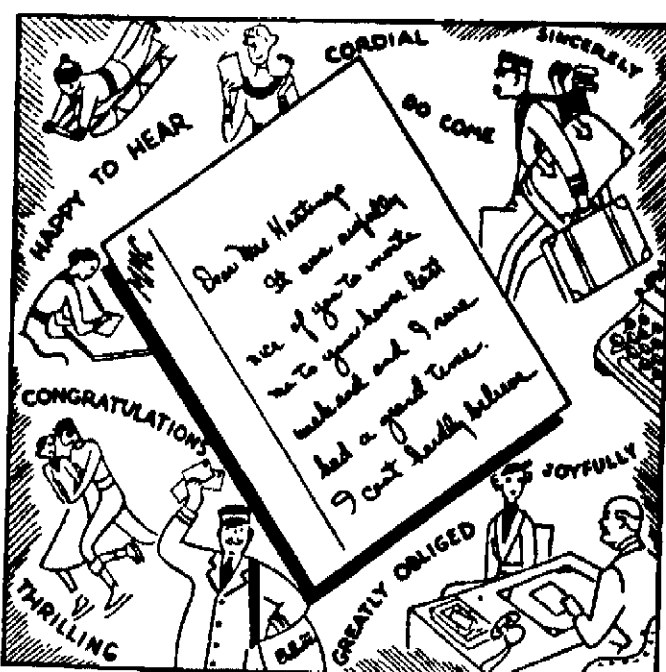

ALL-BRAN supplies soft "bulk" which absorbs water, and gently cleanses the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron. Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook in delicious recipes.

This tempting cereal may be enjoyed by every normal person. Two tablespoons of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Consult your doctor if you do not gain relief this way.

Wholesome, healthful, and easy to serve, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Home Institute LEARN LETTER ETIQUETTE

GOOD PHRASING HELPS YOU WIN FRIENDS

How easily letters do roll off the pen when the writer has a ready supply of bright, exact, vivid words! How ghastly the letter seems when it is pinched out from a meager, pitiful stock of stale, flat expressions! Having a good vocabulary is just like having money in the bank, really. Even better, socially. Imagine the Mrs. Hastings of the letter in the sketch, getting such an appalling bread-and-butter note.

Yet the writer could so easily have found a substitute for "awfully nice." Why not say "ever so kind" or just "very good"? Worse yet is "I sure had a grand time." The language of the Sedes and the Liries! How can any one use their dismal phrases and not be classed with them?

And the sheer bad grammar of "I can't hardly believe!" It is useless to produce the "alibi" of a defective education. Educate yourself, as thousands have done.

Have, readily available, a supply of suave, correct expressions—"It was the greatest pleasure to hear from you."

"I send my warmest good wishes." "We are overjoyed to hear of your success." "Please accept my sincere congratulations." "With profound sympathy, I am, Sincerely yours," "We are so eager to have you come." Please remember me most cordially to Anne." Words like these are the current coin of the cultivated world.

It is amazing how many people will put the date above their address at the head of a letter, or the name of the city above the street address: how many women will sign their formal letters "Mrs. John Jones" instead of "Mary Jones" with the married name in parentheses.

Our 40-page Illustrated Home Institute booklet, HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS, gives samples of good letter-writing, correct English, charming vocabulary. Every common letter-writing problem solved.

Check up on yourself and avoid the embarrassment and snubs that blunders in letters will cost you. To order your copy, use coupon.

In addition there will be a children's hospital, a building for psychiatric diseases, a rheumatism clinic, swimming pool, football grounds, tennis courts, church, concert halls and homes for staff doctors, students and nurses.

Plans for the project were originated in 1931 and work on roads and excavations started in 1932. The foundation stone for a special clinic on cancer has been laid by King Gustav.

MRS. F. P. LUTHER AT REVIEW BOARD MEETING

New York, Feb. 6 (Special)—Mrs. F. P. Luther of Kingston is in New York attending the Twelfth Annual Motion Picture Conference of the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures now in session at the Hotel Pennsylvania. More than 200 men and women delegates from various parts of the country are present.

Various speakers at the opening session set as the keynote of the conference the recognition of the motion picture as an independent art equal to the theatre and one that has "nothing to apologize for." In this country. Reviewers, warned another speaker, had better consider other things besides technical excellence when films tend to "show in many subtle ways that we are getting ready for war." One hundred members of the Young Reviewers Club, ranging from 6 to 16 years of age, saw an unreleased film last night.

Reinstated by Court

New York, Feb. 6 (Special)—A discharge from bankruptcy was granted in United States District Court here to Jack Kaplan, engaged in the grocery business in Ellenville, against whom an involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed on September 23. The order was signed by Judge Alfred C. Cox. Creditors did not oppose the petition for reinstatement.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

With suits so strongly endorsed as the favored costume fashion for spring, new scarfs are designed to enhance the appearance of any suit with their colorful prints, solid colors or white in chic, full-throated effects that fill up the front neckline space.

Some tie at back to make a very high front neckline and others snap into place with fasteners. Taffeta is one of the most important scarf fabrics of the season, appearing in prints, plaids roman stripes, polka-dots and solid colors. Novelty silks and chantung are also much featured in multi-color effects for Ascots and vestee fronts that harmonize with the tailored and mannish looking suits shown for the new season.

In the sketch above at left is shown the latest "ruff scarf" of silk taffeta, obtainable in black, white or solid colors. This charming style produces a high, puffed effect to fill up the suit front and it is snap fastened at back.

The other suit scarf sketched at right uses paper taffeta in novel print pattern—a colorful "Mexican button" design on navy background. It ties at back to make a high and puffed front neckline.

Rebored the "Jiffy-Knit"—one of renowned knitters—a boon to beginners, and a blouse that's due for much Spring and Summer popularity. A blouse, attached, with stitch forming the bodice and sleeves; the lower are plain pattern to include.

No pattern 5523 you will find complete instructions for making the blouse shown in sizes 16-18 and 20-22 as well as for a shirt in these sizes.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 200 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y.

George Of Greece Quits Playboy Role For Long Days Of Hard Work As King

By ALEXANDER SEDGWICK

Athens, (AP)—From a dapper man-about-town in London, during his 12 years' exile, George II, king of the Hellenes, has become a stern-faced, business-like monarch—already showing the strain of sovereignty in this turbulent realm.

"I shall dedicate my capacity for work to the nation," he said when he returned to the throne a little more than two months ago.

At the time few realized the force behind that pledge.

Popular Portrait Changes.

Athens had a picture of him based on reports from abroad—a bemedaled, stylishly-dressed man of leisure, dining in gay West End cafes in London, playing tennis on the French Riviera.

But the king has kept his word, with a dead seriousness in every gesture—and a will of iron.

The 12-year interlude of ease has ended. He has gone on a strict diet. He drinks with extreme moderation.

No Time For Tennis.

He rises at 8 o'clock in the morning, reaches his desk at 9 sharp, and works with dynamic energy often until late at night.

He has not yet appeared on the tennis court, finding time only for brief walks in the palace gardens, and his social life has consisted almost entirely of conversations with ministers and officers of the army, navy and air force.

Those who believed he would become merely a "show-piece" king, under the thumb of the former dictator, General Kondylis, and badgered by conflicting party interests, have good reason for amazement.

Officers Put In Place

Countless stories of his technique in "crushing" insubordination are told over the coffee cups in Athens. Perhaps the most noteworthy accounts show a group of disgruntled officers, without asking "by-your-leave," called at the palace in a body.

Ushered into the king's study, they were kept waiting—until they began to fume. When the king appeared at last, he had changed his clothes. He stood before them in the full uniform of commander-in-chief of the Greek army, and stiffly returned their salutes.

That the "king business" is a strenuous vocation may be judged from these contrasting photographs of George II, king of the Hellenes. One shows him laughing and carefree before he was recalled to the throne of Greece. The other reveals him as the stern-faced monarch whom Athens has come to know after less than three months of sovereignty.

He permitted one of them to talk. The spokesman protested volubly against the granting of grace to military and naval officers involved in the ill-fated Venizelist revolt last March.

King George listened attentively. Then he said:

"During my years of absence in England I learned the value of discipline. I believe it is the wisest policy for officers: not to interfere with politics."

He saluted. The interview was ended. The officers gaped, gulped—and backed out of the room.

Boy "Auction" at Redeemer Lutheran

Sunday evening, February 9, the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will hold an "auction" service to which the public is invited. The executive committee of the church's Boy Scout troop has arranged to "auction off" a boy to the highest bidder. The occasion will be Scout Anniversary Sunday and will have in attendance the Boy Scout troops of the city. Prominent men of Kingston have consented to cooperate by entering their bid for the boy. They are Clyde Wonderly of the Wonderly department store; Clarence Schoonmaker, secretary of the Y M C A.; N. LeVan Haver, assistant district attorney; Dr. John Krom; Clarence Dunn, principal of the high school; the Rev. Arthur Oudemool, pastor of the First Dutch Church; William Wright, executive of the Ulster-Greene Boy Scout council.

The Rev. Russell Gaenale and Edward Luedtke of Redeemer Church will also participate. The idea of the "auction" is that the boy has a life to be lived and that men, representing several professions, lay claim to his career by making bids for him. The "auctioneer" will entertain the bids and will make final disposal of the boy.

The following Boy Scout troops will be present: Troop 5 of Temple Emanuel, Dr. S. Rudisch, scoutmaster; Troop 6 of Albany Avenue Baptist Church, Russell Broughton, scoutmaster; Troop 7 of St. John's Episcopal Church, Clark Leachman, scoutmaster; Troop 8 of Trinity Methodist Church, Edgar Freese, scoutmaster; Troop 10 of Redeemer Lutheran Church, Samuel Messinger, scoutmaster; Troop 12 of First Dutch Church, Floyd Spencer, scoutmaster. Each troop will have its own colors and flags on display at the service.

The members of Redeemer troop committee, who are sponsoring the service are: Frank Strobel, chairman; Montgomery Bailey, William Miller, William Mohr, Alfred Messing-ker, Edward Houghtaling. Prayer and scripture lesson will be read by the Rev. W. Poyntell Kemper, rector of St. John's Church.

GEOGRAPHICAL LIMITS

Luxembourg, (AP)—One of the major military problems of Europe confronts the tiny Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

Luxembourg, with its population of 300,000 and an area of 1,500 square miles, has an army of 150 volunteers.

But Luxembourg, by circumstance is deprived of artillery. Because if artillery practice were held, the shells would land in a neighboring country.

Oil Warnings Sounded In France And England As Each Scans Sources

Grenoble, France (AP)—France, hard-pressed for an oil supply of her own, is making an effort to squeeze enough "black gold" out of the hilly soil of Haute-Savoie to make production economically feasible.

It has long been known that petroleum underlies many parts of France, but the deposits are so sparse that production has been found possible only in a few spots and the total domestic output has been trifling.

Farmers Discount Doubts

Last spring the government began a survey of the Haute-Savoie region as a possible oil source and a company engaged in oil production in Alsace has been brought into the region to construct an experimental well.

Engineers plan to drill 1,200 feet. They have stressed that the work is wholly experimental—they are making no predictions of success.

Countryfolk of the region are less restrained. Talk of the oil millionaires in America is rife and some farmers already are speculating on what they will do with their wealth.

African Quality High

France also has oil hopes in northern Africa. A light petroleum of high value is being produced near Oran, Algeria, and there are two producing regions in Morocco. The total yield of African oil, however, has been small.

France has a guarantee of one-fourth of the production of the great Mosul oil fields, in western Asia, but these fields are in Iraq over which she has no control, and the oil must pass through a pipeline across the Syrian desert—which would require careful guarding in time of war—and then be transported 2,000 miles by water.

Rich Oil Output Grows

Berlin (AP)—Petroleum production in Germany increased in 1935 to 429,673 tons as compared with 314,493 tons in 1934. This was an increase of 36.6 per cent, due largely to energetic Nazi measures to develop the country's scanty oil resources. In 1933, when the Nazis took power, production was 238,596 tons.

London (AP)—Britain, watching the course of various neutrality measures, has discovered that in the event of a European war, she might find herself in the same position as Italy in regard to oil.

Like Mussolini's domain, she depends on sea communications for her supplies. Whitehall bigwigs are getting jumpy on the subject, figuring what they would do if the nation's supplies were cut off.

Tight-lipped generals and admirals, responsible for this island kingdom's defense, know oil will be the arbiter of the next war. It is indispensable for airplanes, tanks, motorized artillery and warships. Recent reports spoke of a 1,000,000-gallon underground oil reservoir being constructed near Plymouth Sound to hold supplies for the British navy.

Yearly Imports Stupendous

Britain gets her oil chiefly from Iran (Persia) and the British West Indies and, in smaller quantities, from a multitude of other sources, including America. She owns outright only the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's wells.

Only seven per cent of Britain's total motor oil imports are supplied by this concern, according to A. W. Newbury, secretary of the Independent Petroleum Federation. While the United States has 65 per cent of the world's total yearly oil output on tap within her own borders, Britain, second largest oil consumer in the world, depends on foreign sources for more than 90 per cent of her supply.

Britain imports yearly stupendous totals. In 1934 they included 1,127,000,000 gallons of gasoline, 667,202,000 gallons of fuel oil, 476,323,000 gallons of crude, 222,932,000 gallons of kerosene and 293,445,000 gallons of lubricating.

Home Product Trifling Much has been said here about producing oil from coal, as "making it technically possible to render this country independent of imported oil."

A $27,000,000 state-favored plant is operating a costly system at Billingham, to produce 45,000,000 gallons a year, just under 4 per cent of Britain's annual imports of gasoline alone.

In war this home-produced gasoline would "suffice only for the air force," estimates Herbert A. Humphrey, fellow of the Imperial College of Technology and Science.

"Don't Forget Farm Tenants"

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Owners of tenant farms offer one difficulty in the move to bring electricity to rural New York state, says L. D. Kelsey, professor in extension service, state college of agriculture.

In many instances, he points out, owners of these farms are unwilling to wire the premises for tenant farmers. The tenant is quite willing to take and to pay for the service and to purchase the electrical appliances, but hesitates in putting money into wiring and fixtures in a property which he does not own.

Farm owners should cooperate with the broad objectives of this movement, Professor Kelsey says, particularly when at least four distinct advantages accrue to them.

First, the reduction in fire hazards to their buildings because oil lanterns and lamps are no longer needed; second, running water is provided, which is the best way to fight a fire if one develops; third, owners have a chance to obtain a higher grade of tenant farmer on their property; and fourth, the value and salability of the farm is increased.

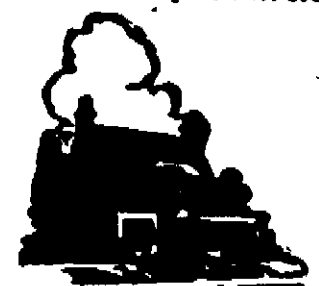

In calling on farm owners to do their part in promoting rural electrification, Professor Kelsey says "those who take the narrow view in the matter are proving to be a serious barrier to the rapid extension of electrical lines. The benefits of electricity should not be denied to families merely because they are tenants."

Poland Guards Teachers' Health Warsaw (AP)—To protect Polish teachers from tuberculosis, the ministry of public instruction has ordered the transfer of all instructors in delicate health to mountainous or forest areas.

MUSICIANS

MUSICAL NOTES

When you take your friends out for the evening you like to take them to a place that is at once a compliment to them and yourself. In this column we endeavor to direct you to just such places. The following Night Clubs are offered for your selection.

Huling's Barn

The patrons of the Barn will be pleased to learn that Mr. Huling is continuing the policy of giving the best in music and entertainment. This time it is with the addition of John Birch, trumpet, formerly with Larry La Roche at the Golden Rule Inn, and also the return of Al Hoffman, one of Cy Austin's original band at the time he first came to the Barn over a year ago. The orchestra is featuring the arrangement of Mr. Birch in the best Cy Austin style. The addition of the above musicians gives the Huling's Barn one of the outstanding orchestras in the Hudson valley.

The Cat and the Fiddle

Joe Mahur, manager of the Cat and the Fiddle, has arranged to bring in some of the best small combinations for week-ends. This Saturday night he has secured the orchestra of Hal Magram. Hal solos on the tenor sax and clarinet. He hails from Sciencetown, the city from which many of our best musicians came from. This band will please you and if you like it, I am sure the manager will return it next week for you.

West Shore Hotel

Last week we advised our friends to try the West Shore Hotel for a good feed and a good time and those who took our advice were well pleased. Flo Odell and her orchestra are on the job to entertain you, and by that we mean real entertainment. Next week we expect to have something special to report for this popular night spot.

Clinton Ford Pavilion

Jack Linton has his augmented orchestra whipped into top notch shape and has prepared a special program for this week-end. This week Jack is featuring Johnnie Valentine in the piano solo "Gayety" by Sosnik. He will also feature Mickey Iannone in violin solos and will play a medley of war songs for the boys of 1917 and 1918. There will be a musical show at 11 p.m. This you cannot afford to miss. This is the eighth week for this orchestra at Clinton Ford and they have produced a new show each week. Motto, something new at all times.

Kathrine Inn

Those who failed to look in at Kathrine Inn last week-end missed a real treat. I tried to tip you off and will pass along the same tip this week. Just drop in and hear the swing band that Manager Claire is building up for the summer season. Mr. Claire states that he is convinced that a big band is the best attraction for the money and he intends to build up his present band, to compare favorably with the other big bands now playing in nearby resorts.

Golden Rule Inn

Larry La Roche is going to open the mid-winter season with a new band. Larry knows his book, and he has instructions from Manager Kuntz to spare nothing in securing a bang-up combination. In other words an orchestra that will carry on the tradition of the Golden Rule Inn for the best in entertainment. The management has also secured the finest in floor shows and they advise me that this is the first of a series of weekly entertainments that will mark the return of the Inn to its usual place in the entertainment field.

Last but not least don't forget the masquerade ball at the Auditorium on Monday evening, February 9th.

JUNK THE CONSTITUTION, SAYS SHAW

On another visit to U. S. shores, George Bernard Shaw, noted English playwright, let fly with his usual caustic comments, one of which contained advice to junk the constitution. He's shown in Miami as he did a "bottoms up" with buttermilk with Bernard MacFadden, publisher and physical culturist. At right is his rarely photographed wife who is accompanying him on an extended cruise. (Associated Press Photos)

Male Ushers to Work
In Reade's Theatres

Walter Reade's two Kingston theatres are to have male ushers instead of girls in the very near future. Mr. Reade having decided recently to hire young men for the jobs in order to increase the positions for male employment.

"Mr. Reade feels that the men of Kingston should be the wage earners," it was said at the office of the Broadway Theatre last night. "He also feels that having young men as ushers teaches them the theatre business from the ground up and gives them the practice experience so necessary for advancement in his organization."

A number of the executives in the Reade theatre chain started their careers as ushers and worked themselves up to their present positions, displaying ability that won the recognition of Mr. Reade.

The ushers in the Kingston and Broadway Theatre will be uniformed in two-tone blue suits of the styles used in New York's largest playhouses. In hiring the young men, Mr. Reade will increase his payroll proportionately.

The new ushers will be Ralph E. Gardner, Jr., 158 North Manor avenue; Milton Tompkins, 39 Prospect street; George Sheldon, 91 Ogle street; Birrell Crispell, Harwich street; Clarence Carson, 44 St. James street; Morton Werbalowsky, 115 Wurts street; Daniel Houser, Jr., 420 Foxhall avenue; Raymond Sicker, 238 Foxhall avenue; Charles Rand, 63 Brewster street and Kenneth Scott, 12 West Union street.

Rev. McGrath Asked
To Remain Here

At the monthly meeting of the official board of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church held last evening the Rev. Howard D. McGrath was given a unanimous invitation to remain as pastor for the third year, and the church board passed unanimously a resolution requesting the bishop and the district superintendent to grant this request. In thanking the board for its action the Rev. McGrath stated he would be very happy to remain as pastor if it met with the approval of the bishop when he appoints pastors to some 300 churches in this area in April.

Bomber Is Landed At Mitchell Field

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—An Army bomber, with two men aboard, landed safely here today in spite of a broken landing gear which had prevented a landing at Concord, N. H.

The plane was brought down at 12:30 p. m. (E. S. T.) by Second Lieut. Tom J. Cunningham, reserve officer, and Chief Sergeant Jesse J. Barnhill.

It landed in a "belly skid" on an ice-covered field and beyond a few scratches was not damaged.

The pilot discovered that one wheel of the landing gear would not go into place.

The plane was flown here instead of trying to land at Concord because of better repair facilities at Mitchell Field, officers here explained.

The flight from Concord required approximately one hour and a half. Before that time the bomber had been in the air five and a half hours.

Both fliers are members of the 4th bombardment squadron, from Langley Field, Va.

Mrs. Sherwood Tells Father Not to Worry

Elliot, Mo., Feb. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Caskey Sherwood, sentenced to death for drowning her infant son at Newburgh, N. Y., has written to her disabled father, Thomas Caskey, telling him not to worry.

Caskey, veteran of the Spanish-American and World Wars, said last night he had received a brief letter which said in effect: "Don't worry about me. I'm all right."

He expressed belief his daughter, a former burlesque dancer and Salvation Army worker, was brooding over the death of her husband last year and her financial condition, and was temporarily deranged when she drowned the child.

Caskey said he was unable to aid her because of lack of money.

EXPEDITION FINDS OLD TROY SECRETS

Face That Launched Thousand Ships Uncovered.

Cincinnati.—Back from digging in the ruins of ancient civilizations, University of Cincinnati archaeologists made an important announcement concerning one of the greatest stories of all time.

They had been looking into the streets and alleys of ancient Troy, the city whose fate was sealed when Trojan King Priam's son, Paris, Judge in the world's first beauty contest, slipped the golden apple to Venus.

They found the skull and bones of a Trojan who probably had witnessed the return to Paris with Helen, owner of the face that launched a thousand ships.

This Trojan may have fallen victim in the dead of night when the wily Ulysses and his men slipped from the wooden horse and put the city to the torch.

The archaeologists found the marks of the fire but no evidence of incendiary origin.

The announcement, made by Dr. Carl W. Blegen, field director, was that Homer's Troy, the Troy where Cassandra prophesied truly, but was never believed, where Achilles sulked in his tent and then chased Hector twice around the walls, is the seventh and not the sixth city built on the site.

"We concluded," said Dr. Blegen, "that the early seventh Troy, which immediately succeeded and was constructed to a great extent of fallen material from the buildings of the sixth settlement (evidently destroyed by an earthquake), maintained its existence approximately a century until it was destroyed, doubtless in a great conflagration in the early days of the twelfth century B. C."

The storied mound in Asia Minor near modern Smyrna, comprised of the ruins of nine cities and nine civilizations, has been a gold mine for archaeologists since its discovery in 1873 by Heinrich Schliemann.

Acting Found to Reduce Mental Maladies of Idle

San Francisco.—The development of self-expression through acting and music, to combat the mental and nervous ills resulting from unemployment, is recommended by Ferdinand Kebely, Berkeley community director.

Kebely, an Austrian soldier wounded in the battle of Gallia, passed four years in a Siberian prison camp.

The same activities that kept tattered, hungry prisoners from going mad, Kebely said, can be applied today to overcome the despondency brought about by enforced leisure resulting from shorter working hours and unemployment.

"Among the prisoners were university professors," Kebely said. "From memory they made scripts of plays. The Swedish Red Cross furnished a few musical instruments but no music."

A prisoner, who had been a concert master before the war, scored the music of great composers from memory."

Permission of the prison officials was obtained and a log stage erected. Make-up materials included flour, stolen from the commissary, to serve as powder; red ink served for rouge and lipstick; charred embers were employed to emphasize the beards and eyebrows and to change the face lines of the actors.

World War Dead to Lie Near Where They Fell

Paris.—A half-million German World war dead who lie in French and Belgian soil will remain undisturbed for eternity; and 10,000 French, British and Belgian soldiers who fought and died in Germany will retain final resting places near where they fell.

The governments of France, Britain and Germany recently simultaneously published an agreement signed last month for establishing a joint committee to deal with any questions regarding French, British and German war graves on foreign soil.

The agreement, which brings former enemies closer together through mutual losses, is based on the principle of "letting former allies and enemy countries in a common remembrance of the dead and that principle in turn is based on common, practical interest."

The agreement doesn't mention the American war dead, but it is understood they also will remain undisturbed as result of a separate Franco-American agreement, that was reached shortly before the armistice.

Perfect Rainbow Seen

Calgary, Alta.—A perfect rainbow appeared in the sky after a recent snowstorm here. It was visible for ten minutes.

Quintuplets Draw Many U. S. Visitors

Toronto, Ont.—Visitors to the Deane hospital, home of the Deane quintuplets at Allamuchy, spent nearly $1,000,000 in Ontario from June to September. It was estimated from figures released by the Ontario tourist bureau.

During the last month period 20,000 persons visited the famous girls and $1,000,000 automobiles parked around the hospital. The Ontario department of highways received $74,000 from motorists and Ontario business benefited to the extent of about $1,000,000.

Of the nearly 60,000 visitors at the hospital during the summer almost 50 per cent were from the United States.

The mandatory police control law has been declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court, which has not yet had opportunity to pass upon it.—Not by Congressmen Lindsay C. Warren of North Carolina. Its author, the man who forced it through Congress and upon the people, is the feeble grand old man, Secretary Waller.

Ufer and O'Rourke Agree to Correction

other indictments were pending trial. He said he at first felt they should go to trial on the other charges but believed that the ends of justice would be served if the boys served out the balance of the term which Justice Stanley had imposed. He said if the boys agreed to correction of the record and admitted their former plea of guilty to robbery, that the remaining indictments would not be pressed when their time was up, provided they behave.

Both defendants were in court and they agreed to the correction of the record.

They have already served about four years of their minimum term and with time off for good behavior will be eligible for parole in about three more years.

Justice Schirck ordered the minutes corrected and also the commitment if an error existed there. He told them that the court felt they had made a wise move in admitting and permitting a correction of the conviction record. He said he believed their counsel had wisely advised them and he believed they would make good when discharged.

Justice Schirck said he hoped the two had found that crime did not pay and that when they were released they would try and make good, useful citizens.

5 Arrested Today For White Slave Probe

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—Arrests resulting from activities of a white slave ring operating between New York and Florida for the winter season were announced today by the justice department.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation, said George Hammond, June Rogers and three girls have been taken into custody by special agents at West Palm Beach.

Hoover indicated the ring may be connected with Mrs. Mae Scheible, who was arrested in New York for inducing girls to go to New York from Pittsburgh for immoral purposes.

Hoover said the arrests resulted from an "extensive investigation that has been in progress on white slave traffic and violations throughout the United States for several months."

Mystery Still Shrouds Auditorium Ready for Disappearance of Girl High School Monday

Mystery still shrouds the disappearance of Miss Ruth Stevens, 25, said this morning that the temporary equipment has been installed in the two rooms in the Municipal Auditorium, which are to be used for the overflow of high school pupils from out of town, and that the school sessions will commence Monday morning in charge of an experienced teacher from the high school faculty. All out of town pupils who are eligible to enter high school have been notified to report at the Auditorium on Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Permanent equipment will be purchased and installed later by the education board.

Through check on all clues, which were few, and are positive that the girl is not in Kingston. No response has been received from the alarm sent out of the police teletype.

Those who are well acquainted with the young woman believe that she left Kingston seeking a position elsewhere, but the police have checked all bus lines and railroad and bus employees do not recall any young woman answering her description boarding a bus or train from this city.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

market was filled with good intentions today, but the urge to take profits raised a barrier to progress in various sections of the list.

Many of the leaders, led by Chrysler, jumped to new tops for the past several years during the first hour. Gains of fractions to 2 or more points predominated in that period. In the subsequent backing up movement extreme advances were shaded or cancelled and scattered declines up to a point or so made their appearance.

Shares that managed to keep ahead moderately included Chrysler, Deere, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Pure Oil, Phillips Petroleum, Cuban-American Sugar, Mack Trucks, du Pont, Delaware and Hudson and Southern Pacific. On the other hand losses up to a point were registered by Douglas, Santa Fe, U. S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, International Telephone, General Motors and Case.

Commodities, such as grains and cotton, were narrow. Bonds were mixed. The dollar improved against the principal foreign exchanges. A more than seasonal gain in freight car loadings for the past week was accounted for mainly by larger coal shipments. Miscellaneous freight showed a less than seasonal expansion.

A sharp drop in motor car production this week was attributed partly to severe weather conditions which prevented normal distribution.

After a week's lay-off the Kingston Maple Leaf Hockey Club will swing back into action this week-end when they face a big barrier in their winning streak drive—the Kingstonians—a powerful sextet that has a deadly forward line which consists of B. Van Gaasbeek, Hank Clarke and Costello. Captain "Red" Mathers has called upon some of his old standbys, Art Boyden, Myron Herick, Harry Wilbur and Ralph Stewart. So far the Leafs have come out victorious in 7 straight battles.

The visitors, led by Hank Clarke, will undoubtedly be a serious threat. The tentative line-ups are as follows:

The game is to be played on Strubel's rink at 10 a. m.

CHECKER CHAMPION AT LEGION BUILDING TONIGHT

Willie Ryan, "The Bronx Comet," will stage an exhibition of checkers at the Legion Building tonight, starting at 8:15. Ryan, the author of several books on checkers, will give explanations of plays. He will play 20 local players and 10 in a blindfold test. Much local interest is being manifested by the claims of Mike Arace that he will defeat the champion. Ryan will present a copy of his latest book, "Scientific Checkers," to the first local player to defeat him either in an open or blindfold test. All players own boards and checkers. The seating arrangements will be so that all can see every move on the boards. Everybody is welcome to attend.

Plan Public Hearing On Broadway Crossing

Acting Mayor John Schwenk said this morning that he planned to call a public hearing on the proposed plan to eliminate the Broadway crossing of the West Shore railroad, within the next two weeks. The plans, which were drafted by the engineers of the New York Central Line, are now on file in the city clerk's office where anyone interested may examine them. The plan calls for the depression of the street under the railroad tracks.

The cost of the construction of the subway will be divided as follows: The railroad pays 50 per cent, the state pays 40 per cent and the county pays 1 per cent.

The plans were ordered filed with the city clerk where the public could examine them at the meeting of the aldermen Tuesday evening, but to date only one or two interested residents have called at the city clerk's office to look over the blue prints.

Shares that managed to keep ahead moderately included Chrysler, Deere, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Pure Oil, Phillips Petroleum, Cuban-American Sugar, Mack Trucks, du Pont, Delaware and Hudson and Southern Pacific. On the other hand losses up to a point were registered by Douglas, Santa Fe, U. S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, International Telephone, General Motors and Case.

Commodities, such as grains and cotton, were narrow. Bonds were mixed. The dollar improved against the principal foreign exchanges. A more than seasonal gain in freight car loadings for the past week was accounted for mainly by larger coal shipments. Miscellaneous freight showed a less than seasonal expansion.

A sharp drop in motor car production this week was attributed partly to severe weather conditions which prevented normal distribution.

Two Schultz Aides Surrender to Police

Lake George, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP).—Two lieutenants of the late Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Fliegerbeimer were lodged in the Warren county jail here today, following their surrender yesterday.

The pair, Henry Margolis, alias "Boss" and Frank Ahern, both of New York, were indicted jointly with Schultz on income tax evasion charges. They appeared unexpectedly yesterday at Glens Falls and gave themselves up to Deputy United States Marshal William F. Dwyer.

The men declined to say whether they had sought asylum in the arms of the law because of reports that the once powerful Schultz gang had been put "on the spot" by newer mobs.

U. S. Commissioner David S. Fisk demanded $75,000 bail each, the amount originally set by Federal Judge Frank Cooper at Albany last year. Although Margolis had a sizeable bankroll, he said it didn't contain that much, and they were brought to the jail.

Margolis insisted he was Henry Stevens, 37, of 1605 Home avenue, the Bronx, married, the father of three children and a retired business man.

Ahern said he was 34, single, unemployed and lived at 1541 Tomlinson avenue, the Bronx.

D. A. R. Meeting Was Held Thursday

The February meeting of the D. A. R. was held at the Chapter House on Thursday evening. In the absence from town of the regent, Miss van Hovenberg, Mrs. W. R. Anderson, the first vice regent, presided. Mrs. Charles Terwilliger reported on the last card party given at the chapter house and told of the success that it was. Mrs. St. John, chairman of the junior group, gave a report on the organization of that group. A letter from the president general, Mrs. Becker, on "Patriotism with special mention of the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln during this month," was read by Mrs. Wood. Those present were reminded of the celebration of Washington's Birthday, Saturday, February 22, which will be observed by the chapter as guest day. Each chapter member may invite one guest to the open meeting in the afternoon at three o'clock. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Gross and Mrs. Saxe will have charge of the refreshments.

The program for the evening, which was greatly enjoyed throughout was as follows: Piano selections, "Solfege" by Bach and "Shadow Dance" by MacDowell, played by Miss Priscilla Nolan. An account of their trip through the west last summer, with pictures and souvenirs, given by Mrs. Witter and Miss Baasche. Vocal selections, "Quiet" by Anderson and "Take Joy Home," by Carolyn Wells Baxter, sung by Miss Eva Clinton accompanied at the piano by Mrs. William MacGregor Mills. Recital by all of "America's Creed."

CHIEF MURPHY TO TALK TO PRESBYTERIAN MEN'S CLUB

The February meeting of the First Presbyterian Men's Club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the church hall, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue. Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy will be the speaker-guest of the club. The business session will be called to order promptly and business disposed of quickly so Chief Murphy will have opportunity to tell the men about some of his experiences and methods of fighting fires.

Men of the church or community who have not previously attended a meeting of this live and interesting organization, will find a cordial welcome and a good time in store for them. The refreshment committee has been talking about oyster stew as the principal item of refreshment, and the boys are hoping the committee's mind is unchanged. Dartball, shuffleboard, indoor horseshoes and pinocle will take up the extra time of the evening, if any is to be found.

POLITICS at Random

THE London presidential boom now has attained proportions which qualify it as a major topic of discussion wherever politicians are gathered together.

Opinions still differ widely as to what may happen between now and Republican convention time. There are those who contend that if he conducts himself carefully, Governor Landon surely will be nominated; and there are those who are inclined to put the emphasis on the pitfalls he still faces, rather than the progress he already has made.

About the situation as it stands at the moment there is far less dispute. Politicians generally are agreed that, as of February, Governor Landon is a figure of importance in his party, to be reckoned with by every group which aspires to party control.

That situation involves both advantages and hazards for the Kansas governor, and undoubtedly is receiving the most serious consideration on the part of those friends who want to see him in the White House.

Entering 'Critical' Stages ACTUALLY, measured by a past standards, the Landon boom would seem to be entering for the first time on its critical stages.

Up to the end of January, or thereabouts, Mr. Landon was just another state governor, with a good record as a vote-getter, praised by his partisans for his executive abilities and for his management of state finances, and well thought of by various eastern business men for the general qualities he had shown as governor.

Now, by reason of the formal launching of his presidential candidacy, he becomes not only a national figure, but one whose friends are actively seeking something for him.

He has made a speech or two on national issues; he will be called upon to make more, and it is well established that speech-making is hazardous.

Also, the search for delegates is beginning actively. And that always means a battle.

From what has been said by those inside the Landon organization it appears that the business of enlisting delegate strength is going forward in Oklahoma, Nebraska, Missouri, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Texas, Washington, Oregon, California and elsewhere. The claim is disputed, but some Landon supporters say he is assured today of more convention votes than any other aspirant.

By BYRON PRICE

'Collisions' Inevitable

THE dangers which beset Governor Landon, or any other candidate, as his campaign spreads out on a national basis, are well known to every experienced politician.

It is inevitable that any such campaign must collide at various points with the campaigns of others who also seek party leadership. Already some of the partisans of Senator Borah have selected Landon as their special target. Already there are evidences of resentment in the ranks of those who have been working for months for the nomination of Col. Frank Knox.

If Landon is as "far out in front" as some of his friends say he is, the natural thing is for the friction caused by his campaign to increase as the convention nears.

In more than one similar case in the past, the ultimate power of that friction has been fatal to the man who was No. 1 on the first ballot. Seldom has any principal figure in a deadlock emerged as the nominee.

The governor's friends manifestly are making a conscious effort to minimize antagonism of this sort, and to keep on good terms with all factions. The coming weeks will see what success they will have. Upon this one thing the outcome at the Cleveland convention might easily hinge.

Explorer Cook Saved by

Note From Ben Franklin

Captain Cook, the great English explorer, might never have lived to tell of his discovery of the Hawaiian Islands, had it not been for Benjamin Franklin. A photostatic copy of a letter written by Franklin and recently acquired by the Archives of Hawaii bears that out, states a writer in the Washington Post.

America and England were at war. Privateers were scouring the seas for English ships. Captain Cook, unaware that war had been declared, was on his way home from the South seas.

In this emergency, Benjamin Franklin, himself one of the great pioneer scientists and at that time minister to the Court of France, addressed a letter to American ship captains to spare the Cook vessel.

The letter reads in part as follows: "This is therefore most earnestly to recommend to every one of you that in case the said ship, which is now expected (to arrive) soon to the European seas on her return, you would not consider her as an enemy, nor suffer any plunder to be made of the effects contained in her... but that you would treat the same Captain Cook and his people with all civility and kindness, affording them as common friends to mankind all the assistance in your power."

The letter reads in part as follows: "This is therefore most earnestly to recommend to every one of you that in case the said ship, which is now expected (to arrive) soon to the European seas on her return, you would not consider her as an enemy, nor suffer any plunder to be made of the effects contained in her... but that you would treat the same Captain Cook and his people with all civility and kindness, affording them as common friends to mankind all the assistance in your power."

Zimbabwe Once Center of the Largest Goldfields

The Zimbabwe ruins in Rhodesia lie about 400 miles north of Witwatersrand, the largest goldfield in the modern world. Zimbabwe seems to have been the center of the most extensive goldfields of the ancient world. Who built Great Zimbabwe and why its great civilization perished, are questions which have not been solved, says the Kansas City Times.

The ruins were discovered by the modern world only in 1867 and 1888, and were first explored in 1891. They are enclosed by a wall of un-mortared granite blocks. In parts this wall is 30 feet high and 15 feet thick.

Some archeologists think the Phoenicians were the builders. Others think it was a city of those Sabaeans of southwest Arabia who have baffled archeologists since the middle of the nineteenth century. These mysterious miners of antiquity seem to have taken about $750,000,000 worth of gold out of southern Rhodesia and sent it somewhere out of Africa. Their caravan probably took it eastward to Sofala and thence to the coast. There is no school of conjecture which places the heyday of Great Zimbabwe in the time of Solomon.

In County Granges

Highland, Feb. 7.—The program at Highland Grange meeting Tuesday evening opened with the members singing, "Love's Old Sweet Song." This was followed by a reading, "At the Crossroads," by Mrs. Louis Granger, who also read a paper prepared by a member, "My Idea of an Ideal Man." The companion paper of an ideal woman was not received. A poem in which all took part was the cutting of beets in two and giving half to the women and the other half to the men; the one bearing the first half of an inscription written on it read it aloud and it was a bit confusing to be sure which the other half was from the remainder of the sentence. It was announced that there would be a game party held February 14 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Granger. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. John Haroldt, the Misses Margaret Haroldt, Pauline Gorkin, Elm Craig, Katherine Derr, Louis Granger, Jr., Mrs. Lucy Craig.

Saugerties, Trinity Win at Comforter Hall

At the Comforter Hall last night both of the church basketball teams met defeat. The Aces lost their second game of the season to the Saugerties Merchants and the Missionists lost to the Trinity M. C. team 34-33. The games were close and hard fought and both necessitated an extra period to decide the winner.

Lazette of the Saugerties caused the downfall of the Aces with several nice long shots near the close of the game. Hank Elzmay and Jim Every of the Missionists each dropped the ball through the hoop for 11 points in the Mission-Trinity game, and Locke and Markle of Trinity came within one point of duplicating their performance, making 21 between them.

U. S. Hockey Team Defeats Switzerland

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, Feb. 7 (AP)—America's Olympic ice hockey team scored its second victory in as many days by upsetting Switzerland, 3-0, today in a brilliant game.

The victory achieved by a sensational attack late in the second period when all three goals were scored within less than a minute, assured the Americans a place in the second round of the preliminary competition even should they lose to Italy in their third match of the opening round-robin series.

The Americans, in the final session, virtually ran the demoralized Swiss from the ice. Only the grand work of Albert Kunzler, Swiss goalie, kept the score within bounds.

Philadelphia—Wesley Ransom, 135½, outpointed Johnny Loran, 140½, Camden, N. J., (10); Jackie Williams, 137, Philadelphia, outpointed Jimmy Jacobs, 125, Norfolk, Va., (10); Johnny Marcelino, 115½, Philadelphia, stopped Danny O'Donnell, 115½, Philadelphia (1).

Speaking of being conservative and playing safe, Yonkers, N. Y., has been carrying fire insurance on unburned goods.

Another thing to worry about is that if the Yonkers fire company drops on such longer, Yonkers will not be able to charge to large it.

THIS GAME OF BASKETBALL

Coach George Edwards of the University of Missouri is an advocate of the turn-around, or jump-turn, shot, in which the shooter, facing away from the basket as he receives the pass, makes a turn-around shot and fires at the goal while in mid-air. Above it illustrated the building for the jump-turn shot. No. 4 passes to No. 1 near the goal and breaks around outside of 1 while 3 races to the free-throw lane to tie up his guard with 4's guard in the cross-cross. No. 1 takes the turn-around shot if he can get loose; otherwise he passes to 4 or 5, or to 3 of those two are covered.

By HUELL E. WARREN

Columbia, Mo., (AP)—Coach George Edwards of the University of Missouri serves up a new system, or style of basketball, each season. He regards it as an ever-changing, elastic game that must be stretched to fit the material at hand.

"It all depends on the boys and the way they stack up on fundamentals," says Edwards. In professional fashion, he lists the fundamentals: (1) goal shooting; (2) passing and ball handling; (3) dribbling and (4) footwork. "Footwork is hardest," Edwards says. "It's the basis of the fast break." He has specialized in the delayed offense the last few years because his material wasn't equipped for the faster pace. Edwards made a mid-season change back to the delayed offense last year for a successful climax to a season that began disastrously.

Double Post Play.

His Tickers are back at the sudden break came this season, but they change the pace when it seems best. Edwards was a pioneer with the "double-post" play, stationing his two big men outside the free throw area to meet the restriction imposed by the first 3-second rule. Consequently the more stringent 3-second rule adopted this year, forbidding any player with or without the ball to remain in the free throw line longer than three seconds, doesn't affect his style.

The Missouri coach has an old standby play that involves passing to the posts and breaking men past them on both sides. If the men coming in are covered, the post turns and shoots or passes out to a "safely" man. He expects about 20 per cent of these plays to produce scores. His basic doctrine in the waiting game is to hang on to the ball until there is a 50-50 chance for the ball to go through the hoop.

Olympic Bob-Sled Run Poorly Constructed

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Olympic four-man bob-sled races, scheduled for tomorrow, were postponed today until a "later date" because of the poor condition of the bob run.

Postponement, if not outright cancellation, of the bob-sledging competition, had been freely forecast yesterday after a series of accidents during practice.

A Rumanian and two Dutch competitors were injured in track-ups on the so-called Bavaria curve of the bob run. The day before nine contestants suffered slight injuries in spills at the same spot.

"The curve is structurally unsound," said J. Hubert Stevens of Lake Placid, N. Y., leader of the American bob-sledging contingent. He pointed out that the run had been closed after only six sleds had made practice descents.

"If six sleds tore it to pieces how can 60 sleds be expected to ride it during the two-day competition?" he asked.

The blizzard which had raged here for several days still was going strong as the second day of Olympic competition opened today but a few minutes after Canada's hockey team squared off against Latvia it stopped and a bright sun broke through the clouds.

Canada, which had trounced Poland, 8-1, in its first hockey test yesterday, made short work of Latvia, winning 11-0.

The Canadians, led by Hugh Farguharson of Montreal, scored six goals in the final periods and generally won as they pleased. Farguharson scored four goals.

Czechoslovakia whipped Belgium in another hockey tussle, 5-0.

According to a recent survey, ready mixed feeds for live stock and poultry to the extent of 198,055 tons with a value at the manufacturing point of $7,725,177 were purchased by Canadian farmers in 1934. Poultry feeds led all others in volume by a large margin and accounted for about 70 per cent of the total.

Kingston-Newburgh DUSO Game Tonight At the Auditorium

A capacity crowd is expected at the Municipal Auditorium tonight to witness what is slated to be the closest fought game in this season's DUSO League schedule. Another close game should be that at Liberty, with a much improved Port Jervis team traveling to that place to form opposition. Liberty is picked to come out on top. Middletown at Ellenville is slated to have an easy time against the weakest team in the league.

With Charlie Beck, the leading scorer in the league, with 41 points to his credit, back in the line-up tonight Kingston is given a very good chance to win over Newburgh. To date the Maroon and White terrors have scored straight wins over Ellenville, Monticello and Port Jervis to top the league. Newburgh has defeated Port Jervis and Monticello and lost to Middletown and Liberty.

Catch Snader has a full squad of veterans to call on to stop the Kingston line-up among the first 15 high scorers in the league. With every man on the team a scoring threat, Kingston will have a tough assignment in trying to stop their offensive attack.

As an extra inducement to draw a larger crowd, two preliminary games have been scheduled for tonight. The high school Jayvees are expected to get back on the winning road after dropping the last two games. Coach Dick Whiston will bank, E. Bartruff, Argueville, New and Silverberg to call on. The Vikes, local junior quintet, will be their opponents, lining up with F. Bartruff, O'Hara, "Weaver" Geisler, J. Mosher, Stall and Plough. The first preliminary will start at 7 o'clock with a pair of mid-grade teams to mix it up. These teams are composed of the smallest basketball players to be found in the local high school. They have held workouts in the gym and are prepared to play a fine brand of basketball.

City Still In Grip of Freezing Temperature

Close to zero weather still gripped the city last night and this morning, and at 8 o'clock the thermometer at police headquarters registered 6 degrees above the zero mark. So cold was it this morning that workers on many of the WPA street projects knocked off work for the day.

With the exception of a few days of milder temperature sub-zero and close to zero temperatures have prevailed in Kingston since the blizzard of January 19. As a result the huge mounds of snow that were drifted high by the gale that swept the fall of snow into the city on January 19 still remain and on only a very few traveled streets is the pavement exposed.

Fire Department Was Called Three Times

The Kingston fire department was called out three times on Thursday, twice for chimney fires in the city, and once for an attic fire in the residence of James Salvino at East Kingston. The attic fire was extinguished by the time the fire department arrived, residents using pails of water to pour on the flames. Yesterday afternoon the fire department was called for a chimney fire at 52 Grand street in a house owned by James Decker, and occupied by Mrs. Julian Martine. The other call was for a chimney fire at 14 Apple street in the home of George A. Freer.

Claryville Hotel Destroyed. Claryville Summer Hotel, one of the most modernly equipped boarding houses along the Neversink, was destroyed by fire Sunday. No estimate of the loss was given. The hotel was of frame construction with 22 rooms and had been built about 14 years. Roscoe T. Roberts was the owner and operator of the place. It is believed that defective wires were the cause of the blaze.

'AD' WHICH BROUGHT APOLOGY TO PRESIDENT

This advertisement, drawn up for a big liquor concern, was cancelled in 400 newspapers after people who had seen it in other papers asserted the model at right bore a strong resemblance to President Roosevelt. It caused a letter of apology to be sent Mr. Roosevelt by the head of the distillery. (Associated Press Photo)

Frank Van Gonsic Is Elected President of Ulster Co. Gun Club

Frank Van Gonsic was elected president of the Ulster County Gun Club at the annual meeting held Thursday evening at McCabe's Restaurant on Wall street. Harold (Pat) Osterhout was elected vice president and Roswell Coles was re-elected secretary and treasurer. Dr. James C. Coles of Ellenville was named a director for the three year term and Ray Canuttis was selected to succeed himself as field captain for the next year.

C. O. (Bud) Fromer, the retiring president, opened the business meeting which followed a steak dinner and called on Roswell Coles for the report of the secretary-treasurer. Mr. Coles made a very complete report of the activities of the club for the past year and his report showed that the establishing of a skeet field at the gun club last year had been a very successful move. Skeet has revived interest in the club among a number of members and the old timers have taken to it also. He reported the four registered shoots held during the year had brought out fair crowds but two of the shoots were held on stormy days and attendance on those two days had dropped to 10 shooters. During the year 55 practice shoots were held and in addition there was the annual shoot of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs which brought out a very large attendance. In addition poultry shoots were held.

During the past year interest in inter-club shoots had increased. One shoot was held at Poughkeepsie and the local shooters lost out by four targets. A return match was shot at the local field and again Poughkeepsie won by 12 targets. This year arrangements will be made for more matches and the local shooters are priming themselves for a win.

Figures were given to show the trend of shooting since the club was organized and to show that interest was picking up in trapshooting since the introduction of skeet. In 1931, the biggest year the club had enjoyed there were thrown 49,000 targets. In 1932 this dropped to 34,025 and in 1933 the mark went up to 35,795, but a low mark was established in 1934 when but 24,250 targets were thrown. This was due to depression times and probably to a slight lack of interest among some members. During the past year interest was revived by the construction of the skeet field and 53,400 targets were thrown, indicating that skeet is becoming a popular sport. Introduction of team matches has promoted much interest.

While the club enjoyed a very good year from a social standpoint it was not so successful financially. Starting out with a balance of nearly $200 at the beginning of 1935 there were unusual expenses such as construction of the skeet field, purchase of the target nets, repairs to the bridge, etc., which reduced the balance and at the beginning of 1936 the club has some outstanding bills but there are on hand 2,500 shells and over 28,000 targets to commence the 1936 season. Expenditures will be less this year and the club will enhance its balance.

Following the election of officers President Van Gonsic was escorted to the chair by a committee consisting of Roy Longstrete and Frank Chaffee.

The question of holding registered shoots in 1936 was taken up and it was voted to continue to hold these shoots. The number was set at four, the same as last year, and the dates were left to Secretary Coles. It was suggested that dates be selected in May, June, July and August. There will be a high gun prize at each of these shoots.

The regular shooting day was observed on Saturday, as it appeared that this was the best day for the majority of shooters. During daylight saving months an additional shoot will be held on Thursday evenings.

Guest Shooters

A suggestion was made that the five day skeet shooters early month

constitute a team to represent the club as a team.

Dr. Coles suggested that skeet teams be formed among the shooters from different localities to create competition and interest in shooting. He suggested that four man teams be formed to meet and shoot at least once a month in competition during the season. It was suggested that teams could be made up at least from Rosendale, Ellenville, New Paltz, Saugerties and Kingston. Henry York of Saugerties, Frank Van Gonsic of New Paltz, George Mitter of Ellenville and R. Coles of Kingston, who were present, were named chairman of a committee to get together a team for this competition once a month. The day this inter-community shooting will be held will be determined later. A suggestion was also made that other teams compete. One team mentioned was Grahamsville, where a skeet field is under consideration.

Under club activities a suggestion was made that the active members of the club be divided into two teams, according to their shooting ability, for the purpose of holding skeet shoots. Five teams were also suggested and this latter suggestion was favored and a committee was named to work out the ratings of the shooters and form teams. Shooting will commence in April. The offer of Roy M. Suttill to donate the services of a man and a truck to grade the field was accepted. It was suggested that a clinder semi-circle run-way be constructed to aid shooters. This path would be a vast improvement at the gun club grounds. Harold Osterhout, C. O. Fromer, Roy M. Suttill and Roy Longstrete were appointed to a committee to investigate the securing of funds or gravel for the work and the club members were invited to donate services for the work.

Keen interest in skeet shooting was shown when several members volunteered to go to the traps Saturday afternoon to try to break a roadway through to the field so that shooting could be held despite the snow. Several members volunteered to aid in this work and C. O. Fromer and Harold Osterhout agreed to donate their trucks to act as snow breakers.

Specks on "Strato" Photos Are Studied

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—Minute specks on specially-sensitized photographic plates sent 13½ miles above the earth on the stratosphere balloon Explorer II were interpreted today by a University of Rochester scientist as the tracks of a cosmic ray from outer space exhibiting the tremendous energy of 100,000,000 volts.

The photographs were exhibited today for the first time by Dr. R. T. Russell Wilkins, professor of physics, who has studied the films since the ascent over the Dakotas last November of the balloon.

They tell the story, Dr. Wilkins said of the destruction of matter in remote space, far beyond the Milky Way. The track shown in the cosmic ray pictures is described by Dr. Wilkins as the mark of the nucleus of a helium atom knocked out of a heavier atom by a cosmic ray from outer space.

TOWN OF KINGSTON

REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Town of Kingston Republican Club held its regular meeting on February 6, at Ruff's Hall, 25 members responding to the roll call. The executive committee drew up a constitution and by-laws which was read and approved by the club. The following new members were accepted into the club: Fred Beecher, Mrs. Amy Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grinn and Mr. Miller.

The club bought a new dartboard board and a dozen new darts were presented to the club by James Whitaker. Following the business meeting the women challenged the men to a game of darts, which was won by the men, score 7-0. After the game, hot dogs, rolls, macaroni and coffee were served. On March 8, the next meeting will be held.

Whiskey Ad Changed Today by Distillers

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—The man in a whiskey advertisement (of the Seagram-Distillers Corp.) who reminded some readers of President Roosevelt, causing the advertiser to send a letter of apology to the President, was a changed man today. The same advertisement appeared in newspapers today, but with the model in a different pose, sans Panama hat and glasses. Without these, he bore no resemblance to Mr. Roosevelt.

The original advertisement was cancelled immediately after the attention of company officials had been called to the resemblance.

Patron Tickets for K. of C. Charity Ball

Under the guidance of John J. McGuire, general chairman, plans are rapidly getting underway towards the promise of a successful annual charity ball which is to be held at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on Friday evening, February 21, under the auspices of Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus.

Each year, the local council asks the public by means of a charity ball to assist in raising necessary funds to carry out the charity work of the organization. This charity is dispensed to all in need regardless of race, color, or creed, and the public is again asked this year to support and give financial assistance to this worthy non-sectarian charity fund. The Patron Committee under the chairmanship of Allen A. Baker has already mailed patron tickets to the supporters of the charity fund, who have responded so nobly in the past. The committee asks that a quick and generous response be made to this annual plea, so that the work of the charity fund will not be retarded in any way whatever. Any one who has not received a patron ticket may procure same by getting in touch with Mr. Baker, or by calling the K. of C. building.

As in other years, a program of first class entertainment will be given, along with two orchestras for the general dancing. The chairman of these committees are working diligently to secure a program that will measure up to the standard that has been set in the past, and hope to put on a show that will be thoroughly enjoyed by all who attend.

Eden May Be New Arbiter of Fashion

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Prince of Wales' accession to the British throne may play havoc with the gently draped contours of American clothes.

Several New York tailors agreed today with a St. Louis department store executive who said that Anthony Eden, Britain's tall foreign secretary, would succeed the new king as fashion arbiter for men.

This might bring a vogue of being impeccably uncomfortable rather than comfortably impeccable, for Eden's dress has been regarded as more precise than King Edward's.

Said a member of one firm doing a transatlantic business in fitting London-made garments to New York buyers: "That movement is already under way in England."

Brisk Business at Ulster County Jail

Business is good at the Ulster county jail and indications are that the jail will have 100 per cent occupancy before the March grand jury convenes to act on cases where defendants are being held for grand jury action. At present there are a number of persons serving time and in addition there is an unusually large number awaiting grand jury action. At this season of the year business is usually quite brisk and Sheriff Molyneux seems to be a popular landlord. There were 44 inmates in the jail Thursday and a half dozen more will make up a full house.

Wednesday there were several guests registered and again on Thursday business continued brisk. Assistant Jailor Arthur Brown had to scratch his head and think up some arrangement to provide room for three alleged chicken thieves who were brought in Thursday afternoon and a reckoning was then made as to what to do if the popularity of the county boarding house continued. There are several short term men in jail now serving time from city court who will go out next week but their places will probably be taken by other transients. The women's jail had but one occupant.

Business Certificate. Blaine Wright and Raymond Krum have filed a certificate with the county clerk stating that they have ceased to do business at Napanoch under the name and style of Wright & Krum.
